Leonardo da Vinci designed various machines capable of performing various actions: robots that resembled humans and animals, contraptions and flying automatons, vehicles with sophisticated mechanisms. The 6 magnificent pop-ups in this book recreate some of these marvelous inventions in 3D - the flying machine, the spring-loaded clock, the armed tank, the robot knight, the flying robot, and another mechanical marvel - the significance of which is revealed thanks to David Hawcock's complex paper engineering, the master's original illustrations, and the precise texts that accompany them. Some of the most important and visionary creations of the great Italian genius come to life in these pages, which are packed with the artist's sketches and notes. Leonardo's own words help the reader understand these futuristic inventions and explore the mysteries of the fascinating world of science. AUTHOR: David Hawcock studied art in York, UK, majoring in graphic design. He opened a design studio in Bath specializing in children's books. He has designed and produced many successful pop-ups, which have sold hundreds of thousands of copies, including The Amazing Fold-Out Pop-Up Body in a Book and the Journal of Inventions: Leonardo Da Vinci. 7 double pages that open up into 6 pop-ups Hit the Road with Moon Travel Guides! Describes recent work by the architectural firm founded by Sharon Johnston and Mark Lee in 1998 in Los Angeles. This work presents dressings of sedge-flies and stoneflies in all their forms ranging from nymphs, to emergers, to adults. This includes cripples and stillborns. Whether you like it or not, you will not find polymers, just natural feathers and furs. This choice was not motivated solely by the issue of pollution which would be a good enough reason. I simply have always disliked using plastic. On the other hand you will be able to experiment with new tying techniques that can make sedge and stonefly wings more robust and at the same time more imitative and buoyant. They are also easier to tie. Retired Marine Corps Sergeant Major Michael Kincaid holds a master's degree in English literature, and is an associate professor at a college near Port Angeles on Washington State's beautiful Olympic Peninsula. Michael has a flair for writing that resulted in publication of several detective novels. He is approached by a 'fan,' an elderly woman who is impressed with his 'magnificent detecting instincts,' and wishes to retain him to locate her son, missing from her life for twenty years. Kincaid reluctantly accepts, and quickly learns the vast differences between writing fictional detective novels and being lead investigator on a real missing person case. He soon finds himself in a quagmire of intrigue, greed, violence and most vicious murder, as he takes up the search for a "Missing Person." This volume provides a comprehensive review of the molecular mechanisms involved in precancerous lesions and benign and malignant breast tumors. Given the complex molecular pathways in breast cancer biology, the book simplifies these complex mechanisms and highlights the practical issues important for daily practice. Sections are structured to review breast carcinogenesis and the role of familial predisposition and stem cells in initiation and progression of breast cancer. In-depth chapters present morphologic and molecular correlations in precancerous and malignant breast lesions, while outlining highly practical issues that are in practice today in breast pathology, such as evaluation of estrogen, progesterone receptors, and HER-2. Written by experts in the field, Precision Molecular Pathology of Breast Cancer is a valuable resource that covers the current practice of breast pathology and looks into the future with an emphasis on the molecular basis of breast cancer. For several decades Peter Friend has been one of the leading figures in sedimentary geology and throughout that time he has helped scores of other people by supervising doctoral students, collaborating with colleagues, especially in developing countries, and selflessly sharing ideas with fellow geologists. This collection of papers is a survey of the research frontier in basin dynamics, a field Peter Friend helped initiate, and a token of thanks from people who have benefited from an association with Peter during their careers. The papers in this book fall into four themes - Tectonics and sedimentation, Landscape evolution and provenance, Depositional systems and Fluvial sedimentation - which reflect Peter's research interests and are all important areas of current research in sedimentary geology. There are both case studies and review articles on these themes which reflect recent work, but the collection can also be considered to be a 'sampler' of sedimentary geology for anyone with broad interests in the Earth sciences.
