This series brings together a range of articles, extracts from books and reports that inform an understanding of secondary schools in today's educational climate. Reprint of the original, first published in 1862. A la fin de la guerre fédérale des états-Unis, les fanatiques artilleurs du Gun-Club (Club-Canon) de Baltimore sont bien désœuvrés. Un beau jour, le président, Impey Barbicane, leur fait une proposition qui, le premier moment de stupeur passé, est accueillie avec un enthousiasme délirant. Il s'agit de se mettre en communication avec la Lune en lui envoyant un boulet, un énorme projectile qui serait lancé par un gigantesque canon ! Tandis que ce projet inouï est en voie d'exécution, un Parisien, Michel Ardan, un de ces originaux que le Créateur invente dans un moment de fantaisie, et dont il brise aussitôt le moule, télégraphie à Barbicane: « Remplacez obus sphérique par projectile cylindroconique. Partirai dedans »... Avec ses personnages parfaitement campés, son humour toujours présent, De la Terre à la Lune est une des grandes oeuvres de Jules Verne, une de ses plus audacieuses anticipations. In Landscapes of Loss, Naomi Greene makes new sense of the rich variety of postwar French films by exploring the obsession with the national past that has characterized French cinema since the late 1960s. Observing that the sense of grandeur and destiny that once shaped French identity has eroded under the weight of recent history, Greene examines the ways in which French cinema has represented traumatic and defining moments of the nation's past: the political battles of the 1930s, the Vichy era, decolonization, the collapse of ideologies. Drawing upon a broad spectrum of films and directors, she shows how postwar films have reflected contemporary concerns even as they have created images and myths that have helped determine the contours of French memory. This study of the *intricate links between French history, memory, and cinema begins by examining the long shadow cast by the Vichy past: the repressed memories and smothered unease that characterize the cinema of Alain Resnais are seen as a kind of prelude to a fierce battle for national memory that marked so-called rétro films of the 1970s and 1980s. The shifting political and historical perspectives toward the nation's more distant past, which also emerged in these years, are explored in the light of the films of one of France's leading directors, Bertrand Tavernier. Finally, the mood of nostalgia and melancholy that appears to haunt contemporary France is analyzed in the context of films about the nation's imperial past as well as those that hark back to a "golden age," a remembered paradis perdu, of French cinema itself. The volume ranges from the close examination of specific objects to larger questions of their signification for the medieval societies that fashioned them and the ways in which they have been, and are currently, interpreted.*

Autour de la Lune est un roman d'anticipation de Jules Verne, paru en 1869 Comme prévu (De la Terre à la Lune), le 1er décembre, à bord d'un énorme projectile d'aluminium lancé par un gigantesque canon de 900 pieds de long, s'embarquent pour la Lune : le solennel président du Gun-Club de Baltimore, Impey Barbicane, l'impétueux capitaine Nicholl et le Français Michel Ardan, un Parisien fantaisiste, un artiste aussi spirituel qu'audacieux, deux chiens : Diane et Satellite et quelques autres "passagers" amenés subrepticement par

Michel Ardan... Les aéronautes ont survécu au terrible contrecoup du départ et, avec eux, nous voyageons dans le boulet-wagon, vivant les multiples péripéties d'une pareille entreprise. Mais pourront-ils revenir sur la Terre? Autour de la Lune: ce roman aux étourdissantes aventures contées avec des précisions d'astronome et une verve merveilleuse constitue, avec De la Terre à la Lune, une des plus audacieuses anticipations de Jules Verne.
