Kate and Dan have been married for thirty-two years. But they've grown apart through the years, and Kate feels she hardly knows Dan at all anymore. Kate finally opens up and embraces the challenges of honestly working through their problems. But Dan may have gone too far. His deception and neglect may be too much for Kate to bear. Rhonda Russell gives a close look at marriage in The Best Things in Life Are Free, a sequel to I Promise You the Moon. This installment will provide more insight into the lives of Kate and Dan along with their children, grandchildren, and friends. For some, God plays an important role, for others a slighter role, and for others, he plays no role at all. Discover the path each character will take in The Best Things in Life Are Free. Where in the world is the best place to be today, next month, or for your birthday? For anyone looking for inspiration for where to go when, this vibrant, practical and addictive book covers the 365 best festivals, sporting events, adventures and natural phenomena on offer around the world. In , therapists John and Linda Friel gave parents an easy-to-understand guide to overcome the seven worst mistakes even good parents make while raising children. Now they've written a book for teens based on the same formula: it includes the seven worst things even smart—and outwardly successful—teens do, and shows teens how they can change these behaviors and assure their success in life as they grow towards adulthood. This book was written expressly for teenagers as a unique roadmap into adulthood. It was designed to stimulate the brain as well as the heart because teenagers who listen to both can eventually negotiate adolescence successfully. It will appeal to teenagers who like to think, wonder, question and challenge, as well as to teenagers who feel that they haven't quite figured out this "life" thing. The Friels show teens the seven things they need to do in order to overcome common roadblocks they face or will face. These are: Become competent—don't expect to have self-esteem without becoming competent Master your feelings—don't let your feelings run the show Break the silence—don't silently scream instead of making yourself known Get healthy power—don't avoid learning about power Face the serious stuff—don't hide the really important things you're experiencing Find an identity—don't avoid the struggle to find yourself Learn to stake out the extremes—don't live only in the extremes. Written in clear, straightforward language and including many interesting and colorful story interludes, this book is an easy-to-use, powerful tool for all teens. A revolutionary guidebook to achieving peace of mind by seeking the roots of human behavior in character and by learning principles rather than just practices. Covey's method is a pathway to wisdom and power. #1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER • Brené Brown has taught us what it means to dare greatly, rise strong, and brave the wilderness. Now, based on new research conducted with leaders, change makers, and culture shifters, she's showing us how to put those ideas into practice so we can step up and lead. Don't miss the five-part HBO Max docuseries Brené Brown: Atlas of the Heart! NAMED ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR BY BLOOMBERG Leadership is not about titles, status, and wielding power. A leader is anyone who takes responsibility for recognizing the potential in people and ideas, and has the courage to develop that potential. When we dare to lead, we don't pretend to have the right answers; we stay curious and ask the right questions. We don't see power as finite and hoard it; we know that power becomes infinite when we share it with others. We don't avoid difficult conversations and situations; we lean into vulnerability when it's necessary to do good work. But daring leadership in a culture defined by scarcity, fear, and uncertainty requires skill-building around traits that are deeply and uniquely human. The irony is that we're choosing not to invest in developing the hearts and minds of leaders at the exact same time as we're scrambling to figure out what we have to offer that machines and AI can't do better and faster. What can we do better? Empathy, connection, and courage, to start. Four-time #1 New York Times bestselling author Brené Brown has spent the past two decades studying the emotions and experiences that give meaning to our lives, and the past seven years working with transformative leaders and teams spanning the globe. She found that leaders in organizations ranging from small entrepreneurial startups and family-owned businesses to nonprofits, civic organizations, and Fortune 50 companies all ask the same question: How do you cultivate braver, more daring leaders, and how do you embed the value of courage in your culture? In this new book, Brown uses research, stories, and examples to answer these questions in the no-BS style that millions of readers have come to expect and love. Brown writes, "One of the most important findings of my career is that daring leadership is a collection of four skill sets that are 100 percent teachable, observable, and measurable. It's learning and unlearning that requires brave work, tough conversations, and showing up with your whole heart. Easy? No. Because choosing courage over comfort is not always our default. Worth it? Always. We want to be brave with our lives and our work. It's why we're here." Whether you've read Daring Greatly and Rising Strong or you're new to Brené Brown's work, this book is for anyone who wants to step up and into brave leadership. The three best things in life are things we seldom recognize. This is a story that will force you to acknowledge... The three best things! From the dawn of time, horses have been at once our idols and our companions, awakening in us feelings of awe and inspiration while serving as our partners in almost all human endeavors. Philosophers, artists, and writers have sought to describe their--and our--attraction to these magnificent creatures that have become all things to all people. This book will reflect the variety of our fascination with and love of horses, from classic texts of Greek and Roman philosophers, the Bible, and the Koran through Shakespeare, Cervantes, and Dickens to such contemporaries as Clint Eastwood, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, and Mr. Ed. Keep Susan Kohl's New Book Someplace Handy -- you'll want to refer to it again and again. More than 40 brief essays help us remember what's really important. Each piece concludes with a few questions or an idea to help you articulate the best things you do, so you can do more of them. Kohl also gently reminds us to notice times when things aren't going well, when we're questioning ourselves, and helps us build our resources for dealing with problems on a daily basis. She offers simple things you can do for yourself and your children -- make a list of what worked, remember your own childhood, write your children a letter for the future. The topic index lets you easily find information on specific issues. Book jacket. Ireland Before You Die's Irish Bucket List is an inspiring, enthusiastic and insightful travel guide to help you discover the best sites that Ireland has to offer. From climbing Ireland's tallest mountain to a pint in Ireland's oldest pub, this book offers a brief overview of the best things you can do on this magical island. This concise book is perfect for someone who wants to see the best places in Ireland but doesn't know where to begin. It is a stimulating, concise and informative guide to the 101 best places to see in Ireland. The book was written and researched by Stevie Haughey, founder and driving force behind Ireland Before You Die. Since its foundation in 2014, Ireland Before You Die has reached millions of people worldwide, gained over 300,000 followers on social media and encouraged many people to visit and experience the emerald isle for themselves. After writing hundreds of articles about the best places to visit in Ireland, having literally over 3 million people reading them and regular requests for a book, Stevie felt it was time to write something that brings it all together. The Irish Bucket List is his and Ireland Before You Die's first book. "This book is an accumulation of all that I have seen, learned and experienced on the island of Ireland. It includes the 101 places, in my opinion, you should see in Ireland before you die." Stevie Haughey (Author and Founder of Ireland Before You Die) Ireland Before You Die's Irish Bucket List includes: - A trip to the world's most haunted castle - An ancient wonder older than the pyramids - A ride on Ireland's only cable car - A hike to the top of Ireland's tallest mountain - A pint in Ireland's oldest pub - Much more... More in the series From Paris and London to San Francisco and Tokyo, there are more places to discover with these niche local guides! Written by the people who call it home, the Like A Local series from DK takes you beyond the tourist track to experience the heart and soul of each city! Psychologists and best-selling authors John and Linda Friel have written an enormously readable and infinitely practical book that delves into what makes a relationship enduringly successful. Wherever readers are in their own relationships, this book can improve those relationships dramatically, bringing them immediate and lasting benefits. In the tradition of their bestseller, The 7 Worst Things (Good) Parents Do, the authors examine the behaviors that happy, effective couples display continually. After careful investigation, the Friels synthesized years of clinical work into a manageable list of the most significant patterns of behavior couples must address and embrace if they want to become truly great couples. Recognizing that other patterns and behaviors certainly do exist, when patients come the Friels for help, the core issues illustrated in this book are discussed as the couples move boldly toward improving their relationships—with consistently outstanding results. The authors found that they had not seven, but eight, key items to identify. Here are a few: Be Sexual Be Willing To Divorce Manage Your Fear, Hurt, Shame, And Loneliness Own Your Part (be responsible for creating a great

This book is published to coincide with the 40th anniversary of Ikon Gallery, founded in 1963 as a 'gallery without walls', and started as a co-operative of artist-volunteers to challenge a conservative local art world. It contains an essay describing Ikon's early years by the existing director, Jonathan Watkins, and interviews with its six founding artists as well as biographies of 12 artists associated with the gallery during the 1960s and a list of Ikon exhibitions from 1965 - 72. Published to accompany the exhibition Some of the Best Things in Life Happen Accidentally: The Beginning of Ikon at Ikon Gallery, 28 July - 12 September 2004 "This landmark volume tells the story of Jean-Michel Basquiat from the intimate perspective of his family, intertwining his artistic endeavors with his personal life, influences, and the times in which he lived, and features for the first time work from the Estate's largely unseen and significant collection of paintings, drawings, sketches, and ephemera. Organized by the family of Basquiat, the exhibition and accompanying catalogue feature over 200 never before and rarely seen paintings, drawings, ephemera, and artifacts. The artist's contributions to the history of art and his exploration into our multi-faceted culture—incorporating music, the Black experience, pop culture, African American sports figures, literature, and other sources—are showcased alongside personal reminiscences and firsthand accounts providing unique insight into Basquiat's creative life and his singular voice that propelled the social and cultural narrative that continues to this day. Structured around key periods in his life, from his childhood and formative years, his meteoric rise in the art world and beyond, to his untimely death, the book features in-depth interviews with his surviving family members." -- The Best Things in Life are Free is packed full of money-saving tips for the global traveller. history. For centuries, philosophers, theologians, moralists, and ordinary people have asked: How should we live? What makes for a good life? In The Best Things in Life, distinguished philosopher Thomas Hurka takes a fresh look at these perennial questions as they arise for us now in the 21st century. Should we value family over career? How do we balance self-interest and serving others? What activities bring us the most joy? While religion, literature, popular psychology, and everyday wisdom all grapple with these questions, philosophy more than anything else uses the tools of reason to make important distinctions, cut away irrelevancies, and distill these issues down to their essentials. Hurka argues that if we are to live a good life, one thing we need to know is which activities and experiences will most likely lead us to happiness and which will keep us from it, while also reminding us that happiness isn't the only thing that makes life good. Hurka explores many topics: four types of good feeling (and the limits of good feeling); how we can improve our baseline level of happiness (making more money, it turns out, isn't the answer); which kinds of knowledge are most worth having; the importance of achieving worthwhile goals; the value of love and friendship; and much more. Unlike many philosophers, he stresses that there isn't just one good in life but many: pleasure, as Epicurus argued, is indeed one, but knowledge, as Socrates contended, is another, as is achievement. And while the great philosophers can help us understand what matters most in life, Hurka shows that we must ultimately decide for ourselves. This delightfully accessible book offers timely guidance on answering the most important question any of us will ever ask: How do we live a good life? Drawing from diverse personages -- Goethe to Churchill to Woody Allen -- Robert Byrne has mined a collection of wit and wisdom that deserves a special place on every humor lover's bookshelf. These unique, witty, and outrageous quotations, previously published in four separate volumes, are now gathered together in a seemingly limitless trove of pithy and often irreverent one-liners, retorts, put-downs, jokes, and last words that cover every conceivable subject and will appeal to every taste. Highlights include: "Start every day with a smile and get it over with." -- W. C. Fields "Men read maps better than women because only men understand that an inch can equal a hundred miles." -- Roseanne Barr "Happiness is having a large loving family in another city." -- George Burns

From A to Z, the Penguin Drop Caps series collects 26 unique hardcovers—featuring cover art by Jessica Hische. It all begins with a letter. Fall in love with Penguin Drop Caps, a new series of twenty-six collectible and hardcover editions, each with a type cover showcasing a gorgeously illustrated letter of the alphabet. In a design collaboration between Jessica Hische and Penguin Art Director Paul Buckley, the series features unique cover art by Hische, a superstar in the world of type design and illustration, whose work has appeared everywhere from Tiffany & Co. to Wes Anderson's recent film Moonrise Kingdom to Penguin's own bestsellers Committed and Rules of Civility. With exclusive designs that have never before appeared on Hische's hugely popular Daily Drop Cap blog, the Penguin Drop Caps series debuted with an 'A' for Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice, a 'B' for Charlotte Brönte's Jane Eyre, and a 'C' for Willa Cather's My Ántonia. It continues with more perennial classics, perfect to give as elegant gifts or to showcase on your own shelves. Z is for Zafón. Barcelona, 1945: A city slowly heals in the aftermath of the Spanish Civil War. Daniel, an antiquarian book dealer's son who mourns the loss of his mother, finds solace in what he finds in the "cemetery of lost books," a mysterious book entitled The Shadow of the Wind, by one Julián Carax. But when he sets out to find the author's other works, he makes a shocking discovery: someone has been systematically destroying every copy of every book Carax has written. In fact, Daniel may have the last of Carax's books in existence. Soon Daniel's seemingly innocent quest opens a door into one of Barcelona's darkest secrets--an epic story of murder, madness, and doomed love. Containing walks and detailed maps from throughout the city, Secret Stairs highlights the charms and quirks of a unique feature of the Los Angeles landscape, and chronicles the geographical, architectural, and historical aspects of the city's staircases, as well as of the neighborhoods in which the steps are located. From strolling through the classic La

Loma neighborhood in Pasadena to walking the Sunset Junction Loop in Silver Lake, to taking the Beachwood Canyon hike through "Hollywoodland" to enjoying the magnificent ocean views from the Castellammare district in Pacific Palisades, Secret Stairs takes you on a tour of the staircases all across the City of Angels. The circular walks, rated for duration and difficulty, deliver tales of historic homes and their fascinating inhabitants, bits of unusual local trivia, and stories of the neighborhoods surrounding the stairs. That's where William Faulkner was living when he wrote the screenplay for To Have and Have Not; that house was designed by Neutra; over there is a Schindler; that's where Woody Guthrie lived, where Anais Nin died, and where Thelma Todd was murdered . . . Despite the fact that one of these staircases starred in an Oscar-winning short film—Laurel and Hardy's The Music Box, from 1932—these civic treasures have been virtually unknown to most of the city's residents and visitors. Now, Secret Stairs puts these hidden stairways back on the map, while introducing urban hikers to exciting new "trails" all around the city of Los Angeles. Peter Kreeft's Socrates probes the contemporary values of success, power and pleasure. The lower things like food and sex The higher things like inner peace and self-actualization They're all good Do you have them all? Emilie's fine with things just the way they are. She's finally graduated and has a great job with a schedule that lets her enjoy horses on her terms. She spends her mornings riding Thoroughbreds off the track so she can find them new careers, her evenings working at the physiotherapy clinic and comes home to her sweet black Labrador Holly, who she adopted at Christmas. If Mr Right were to walk into her life she wouldn't turn him away, but she's sure not waiting around for him. When Emilie's brother-in-law Nate invites his brother, Tim, to the farm in Ontario to rehabilitate, Emilie's perfect world is disrupted. Tim is not Mr Right. Everyone assumed they'd get together, but after thinking they'd recovered from their bumpy start at Nate and her sister's wedding, Tim ghosted her. As far as she's concerned, he's not getting a third chance. She intends to avoid him. She's got a horse show to plan and a charity event for retired Thoroughbreds to organize. She'll endure his presence while he's around and try to stay out of his way. It should be easy, with her busy life. Right? Tim's supposed to be living the dream of a career as a professional hockey player, but after a brief stint in the NHL he was sent back to the minors... then got hurt. Now his whole career is in jeopardy, and what is he going to do if he can't play anymore? Visiting his brother might be just the thing to get himself into shape for training camp, but there's one problem — Emilie. He messed up with her, not once, but twice. What's it going to take to convince her he's not the guy she thinks he is when every time he tries, things go sideways?
